

The background of the cover is a detailed watercolor illustration. In the top left is a large red tomato with green leaves and a small cluster of black and red peppercorns. To its right is a bundle of golden wheat stalks. In the top right corner is a glass bottle of yellow oil with a cork. On the right side, there is a piece of raw red meat. The bottom left features a large piece of salmon with black peppercorns. Next to it is a purple onion and a bunch of green basil leaves. In the bottom right, there are green cucumbers, one of which is sliced. A network of grey lines with dots at the vertices, resembling a molecular structure, is overlaid on the illustration. An orange curved line with dots connects various points across the composition, from the tomato area down to the salmon and cucumber areas.
